I'd like to thank all those who sent me an email signifying their interest of purchasing our ice cream machines.

Just now I received an email from the manufacturer informing me the result of their trade exhibit held in Hongkong last August and I would like to share it in this forum:

"In order to renew our presence in the local market of Hong Kong, some of the staff from the international department took part in HK Food Expo 2008. The main target was to introduce our ice cream machines and powder for the local market in Hong Kong as well as the Domestic market in China. During the first two days, only trade professionals where allowed to the exhibition hall and there where several opportunities to introduce our products to interested clients, mainly from Hong Kong, China and Philippines, : for example KFC in Philippines showed interest in our machines."

This only means that the machines are of high quality. So to those want to start their ice cream business, please email me.
